MAN'S STORE Official Weather Report—Cloudy MERCHANTS INDORSE TAG DAY OF "SCOUTS"

R. P. Andrews Discusses Value Country of Movement to Train Boys.

MAKING PLANS FOR SATURDAY

"Tag Day for Boy Scouts, Satarday, April 4. Greet the boy with a smile and give him your encouragement."

Washington's business men are com-forward with hearty recommendations the Boy Scout movement and are sup porting the scouts' appeal for contribu-tions on their "Tag Day" next Saturday. R. P. Andrews, president of the Retail Merchants' Association, said yesterday: "It should be our business to develop our boys so that our men will be the highest class of business men.

"The Boy Scouts are built up physically and are giving keen interest to mat-ters that our fathers, as a rule, never were taught. To my mind the great thing is, that all this scout training can not fall to merge bodily strength and manly alertness, encouraged with the idea of protecting the weak, helping the This is going to be a banner manly alertness, encouraged with the idea of protecting the weak, helping the year for our $15.15 Suits. We can dependent, and doing a good turn every where the Boy Scout organization has taken a part convinced me that too much cannot be done to encourage this move-ment, and I take great pleasure in indorsing it."

Stationery for tag day has been donated by a local supply firm. A printing firm has contributed the printing. Slides advertising the tag day are to be shown in thirty moving picture houses during the week. The slides have been made by a photographic establishment free of charge.

The Scoutmasters' Club met at the Raleigh last night and tag day pians were discussed. Friday night at the Scouts' regular patrol meeting, the tags will be distributed and everything made ready for a hot and heavy campaign on Saturday.

AGED WOMAN ENLISTS PRESIDENT'S INTEREST

Miss Mattie Tyler, Descendant of Former Executive, to Regain Job if Law Allows.

President Wilson will give his attention to the case of Miss Mattie R. Tyler, the sixty-seven-year-old granddaughter of former President Tyler, who this year falled to gain her reappointment to the 3830-a-year position as postmistress at Couritand, Va. This was the result of Miss Tyler's interview with the President Yesterday. The cause of President Wil-son's hesitation in promising Miss Tyler reinstatement rests in the legality of the question. If a way can be found to re-store Miss Tyler to her position after the ratification of the appointment of B. A. Williams to the position, the Presi-dent will aid the descendant of President

Tyler.
The clouds in Miss Tyler's sky seem to be breaking away and conditions point to her restoration as postmistress. The President will consult with Postmaster General Burieson to find out whether William's commission cannot be revoked. Mr. Burieson has already told Miss Tyler that he would reinstate her if she should gain President Wilson's consent. During President Roosevelt's time Miss Tyler was replaced and restored by the Presi-

The President gave sympathetic atten-tion to Miss Tyler yesterday when she appeared to state her case and seemed willing to keep a large number of callers waiting to hear her.

660 for the improvement of a waterway between New Orleans and Morgan City was made to the Senate Commerce Com-mittee by a delegation headed by Mayor Martin Behrman, of New Orleans. The construction of this waterway, the com-mittee was told, would open up an in-side water route from Mobile to Corpus Christi and with a canal to be con-structed between Pensacola Bay and Mo-bile Bay would provide an inside route from Florida to Texas. President Wilson sent to the Senate the following nominations for postmasters: Maryland, W. E. Burke, Taneytown; T. J. Goonan, Westminster. Virginia, S. B. Downing, Front Royal; W. M. Calvert, Woodstock; Nina Moss, Beaverdam. West Virginia, O. J. King, Elkins.

The Smith cotton futures bill, which is almed to correct abuses in the New York Cotton Exchange, and which passed the Senate on Saturday, was transmitted to the House and referred to the Com-mittee on Agriculture. A meeting of the committee will be held tomorrow and it is believed that every effort will be made to expedite the passage of the bill.

STUDENTS HEAR SUNDAY IN GYMNASTIC SERMON

Baseball Evangelist Preaches at University of Pennsylvania-Details of Libel Suits Disclosed.

Philadelphia, March 30.—Rev. "Billy" Sunday, the baseball evangelist, delivered a sermon to 4,000 students, alumni, and faculty members of the University of Pennsylvania today in the symnasife building of the university. He leaped and whirled and gesticulated and threatened to wreck a small table as he hammered it with his powerful fists. He never stood still, he spun from one side of the pintform to the other, while the of the platform to the other, while the audience sat spellbound. After arriving in this city this morning from Scranton, he went to the Bellevue Stratford in a motorcar, which shad been placed at his disposal by Mrs. John Wanamaker. He ate a hearty breakfast, posed for the movies, and talked with reporters, then went into conference with reporters, then went into conference with a delegation of Philadelphia clergymen and laymen, who wanted to talk with him about starting a revival here. During his sermon Rav. Mr. Sunday referred to Cleopatra or Nero as historical examples of persons who had "gone to the mat with the devil and lost out." He said Pontius Pilate was a standpet, free lunch pie counter. In horn pesnut lunch, pie counter, tin horn, peanut grafting politician.

New York, March 30.—The secret behind the suit for $25,000 damages, recently brought against "Billy" Sunday by Charles H. Beil, was revealed today when a bill of particulars was filed by the plaintiff. Mr. Bell charges that the evangelist said of him during an address in Wilkesbarre, Pa.:
